

2014-2015 Pennsylvania School District Medicaid Reimbursements for School Based ACCESS Services

For nearly 30 years, schools across Pennsylvania have used Medicaid to fund the School Based ACCESS program to cover certain health-related services for Medicaid eligible children. Children covered by Medicaid may receive primary or preventive services in a school-based center, such as hearing and vision screenings. Pennsylvania also uses Medicaid dollars to help schools provide services described in a child's special education plan under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). This includes services such as occupational and physical therapy, nursing, mental health, and aides in the classroom. Medicaid also covers health services for eligible children through the Early and Periodic Screening Diagnosis and Treatment Services (EPSDT).

In Fiscal Year 2014-2015, the Federal share of Medicaid funding for Pennsylvania School Based ACCESS services was nearly $145 million. Under the Republican plan to cap Medicaid expenditures, state elected officials may be forced to cut funding to schools that provide special education services to students with disabilities. Below you will find a district by district breakdown of PA school-based Medicaid funding.

Note: The dollar amount represents reimbursements to the Local Education Agency (LEA) for direct services provided to students. This amount does not include $38.3 million of administrative payments made to the LEAs. This information is not readily available because it involves multiple data sets. DHS is working to gather the additional information, but it is likely these numbers may increase by one third per district.
